Course Information

Term: Fall 2016
Course Title: Project Lead The Way
CRN: 62108 SUBJECT, NUMBER, & SECTION: CI 499 PLT HRS: 4
Course start date and end date: July 18, 2016 to December 05, 2016
Total Cost: $1,836.00 ($459.00 per graduate credit hour)

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The University of Illinois is a collaborating partner with Project Lead the Way, a nonprofit organization that provides a transformative learning experience for K-12 students and teachers across the U.S. PLTW creates an engaging environment and empowers students to develop in-demand knowledge and skills necessary to thrive in an evolving world. Through pathways in computer science, engineering, and biomedical science, K-12 students learn problem-solving strategies, critical and creative thinking, and how to communicate and collaborate. Students apply knowledge from a variety of disciplines as they engage in hands-on activities, projects, and problems reflective of real-world scenarios and careers. PLTW is shaping the innovators, creators, and designers of today and tomorrow. This graduate course builds upon Project Lead The Way teacher core training institutes hosted by the University of Illinois by providing participants the opportunity to explore additional issues related to engineering, STEM, and computer science in the K-12 classroom.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS: Prerequisites for CI499 courses associated with PLTW include successful completion of one of the PLTW Summer Core Training Institute during the summer of 2016 (see http://www.pltw.uiillinois.edu for more information) or earlier. Participants must have ready access to the Internet, a valid, working email address, and access to a computer with multimedia capabilities. The coursework for this class extends and builds on summer institute professional development activity.
